Crossing the Ocean Death and a Trip to Europe
News From Both Sides
Perhaps We Come Back
—By Arthur Brisbane—

OWNERSHIP OF THE DAY

W on the way to Paris, by way of Cherbourg, leaving New York just after midnight yesterday morning.

No matter how often you cross on big ships like this, or on little ones, you are reminded that the long trip called death and sea ocean voyage are not unlike.

You take your "last dinner" in New York, friends are more or less sorry to see you go. That's the death.

On board ship you sail through space for some thousands of miles with only water all around you. That's the trip from here to the next world.

In due time you land in that next world, to find it different from this, and very interesting.

If you go to Paris—this writer is going there—you reach what many Americans consider a fairly good imitation of heaven.

The safety in crossing the little ocean, the certainty of landing on the other side, should make us worry less about the big crossing over the ocean of ether.

Once we know as little about an Atlantic crossing as we know about the "final trip" that each must take when his hour comes.

Now crossing the ocean is like going from New York to Chicago. You hear from your friends on both sides of the ocean. Business messages come from the United States side, other messages from the European side, when 1,000 miles from either.

Believe has conquered this little ocean, intelligence has made it smaller, cleared out sea serpents, taught us we need not put wax in our ears to shut out the singing of sirens, convinced us, to our sorrow, that no mermaids are waiting to pick us up when we fall overboard. All fear and superstition are gone, from these floating cities. A preacher on board does not worry the sailors—there are no sailors.

Our oceans and our land have been cleared of superstitions, unreal horrors, chimeras, hydra and Gorgons dire.

It has taken men all of the million years they have lived on earth to change from cave-men cannibals to modern explorers of their fellow men and to get

VANZETTI'S SISTER COMING TO U.S.; FULLER CLOSES HIS HEARINGS

New developments in the Sacco-Vanzetti case today, on the eve of Governor Fuller's momentous decision which is due tomorrow, were as follows:

- 1—Extra police were detailed to guard the Worcester home of Judge Webster Thayer and Chief Justice Rugg of the Supreme Court.
- 2—Governor Fuller was accompanied by a State police guard when he left the State House to go to luncheon.
- 3—Vanzetti's sister left Turin, Italy, on a race across the ocean to see her brother before he dies. Possibility, as seen by friends of the condemned men, of seeking a postponement of the execution until she arrives.
- 4—Defense supports Vanzetti's alibi in the Bridgewater case by finding bill of lading of shipment of safe.
- 5—Vanzetti sympathizers see hope in visits of Judge Thayer and Prosecutor Ranney to State House. Sacco, hopeless, continues hunger strike.

The police guard was assigned to the homes of Judge Thayer, who presided at the trial of Sacco and Vanzetti, and Chief Justice Rugg by Chief of Police George H. Hill of Worcester.

THOUSANDS PAY WALE'S HOMAGE IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—The platform, guns boomed a royal salute, the train bearing the Prince of Wales, his brother Prince George and Premier Stanley Baldwin arrived here from Montreal at noon today.

As the train backed into Central station to give the Prince an opportunity to greet the official reception party from the observation platform, guns boomed a royal salute. The members of the party, led by the Prince of Wales, came down the red-carpeted steps and were introduced by Premier King to the Cabinet Ministers. The visitors then moved through the station and were accompanied with thousands cheered by Ottawa's thousands.

PRESIDENT DECLARES 'HE CHOOSES NOT TO BE CANDIDATE NEXT YEAR'

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 2.—Calvin Coolidge, in terse and dramatic fashion, today renounced all aim to the Republican nomination for President in 1928.

In a one-line sentence he made the following announcement to a group of startled newspapermen:

"I do not choose to run for President in Nineteen Twenty-eight."

There was no amplification of the little written announcement.

Each reporter received a copy on a slim sheet of flimsy paper and Mr. Coolidge waved them out of his office signifying the audience was ended.

There had been no advance information that the President intended at noon, to make the most momentous announcement of his political life.

HUNDREDS OF PERSONS VISIT SACCO-VANZETTI HEADQUARTERS
Photo shows part of the crowds which gather at the Sacco-Vanzetti headquarters each day. The crowds are increasing in size each day as the time nears for Governor Fuller to announce a decision in their case. They have not yet been moved to the death house. Sacco is in a critical condition from his long hunger strike and the mental anguish under which he is laboring. Vanzetti, who broke his fast, is bearing up well under the ordeal and still hopes that he will be freed. Governor Fuller will announce their fate tomorrow.

This action was taken as a measure of extreme precaution because the decision is due tomorrow. Defense committee members announced that they had received telegrams notifying them that meetings will be held tomorrow night in Pittsburgh, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Tampa, at which the Governor's decision will be announced.

PLANES TO CARRY NEWS.
From Pittsburgh, it was said, aviators will fly over the mill and mining regions and drop posters announcing the decision.

The fruits of a report that Vanzetti was placed in a padded cell at State Prison last Friday night, and kept there through the night, and positively established later in spite of repeated denials by officials and members of the defense committee, Vanzetti became unmanageable in his cell in the Cherry Hill wing of the prison and was transported to the padded cell by guards. Dr. Joseph J. McLaughlin, prison doctor, was called.

After several hours the prisoner was calmed and was returned to his cell where he gave no further trouble. He terminated his hunger strike twenty-four hours later.

ADMITTED BY THOMPSON.
Attorney William O. Thompson, chief defense counsel, was one of those who admitted that this story was true. He declared that the transfer of Vanzetti to the padded cell was "a precautionary measure," taken because of his condition from fasting.

A fresh flame of hope flared in Vanzetti's heart when he learned that both Judge Thayer and Assistant District Attorney Dudley P. Ranney, who is handling the State's prosecution of the case, were called into conference by the Governor. Friends of the two condemned men also saw hope in these interviews, as did Sacco's wife.

Sacco, on the seventeenth day of his hunger strike, ailed and apparently resigned to death, alone displayed no interest in the new developments.

With the decision almost at hand, Vanzetti ate heartily. His brother last consisted of hash, bread and coffee and afterwards he asked guards to bring him some milk. For dinner he ate steak smothered in onions, bread and coffee.

Vanzetti's sister, Luigia Vanzetti, cannot arrive in New York until August 15. If her brother is doomed to die, his execution will take place the week beginning that date and any postponement to await her arrival in Boston on the 11th, would rest in the hands of Warden William Hendry of State prison.

Previously she cabled, in response to an urgent request from her brother to come if possible, that she would do so if there was time. Her decision to start anyway was made after she received a message sent by him again urging her to come and indicating, perhaps, that he had hope of life.

SISTER SAILS TOMORROW.
Leaving Turin, Italy, today, she sails from Bologna tomorrow on the steamship Vigenam. The brother and sister are devoted to each other and have exchanged a

Sacco to Continue Fast If Finding Is Adverse

"There is no use eating and making myself fat to be killed," Nicola Sacco is quoted as having said to Vanzetti when the latter pleaded with him to end his hunger strike. Sacco refused.

To continue his fast through today and afterward if the Governor's decision were adverse, was Sacco's plan, he told Vanzetti.

make certain that a quorum of the Governor's Council will attend the scheduled meeting tomorrow, but reports persisted that this was being done.

This was taken as an indication that the council will be asked to counsel in something in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. One report was that they would be asked to agree to a respite for the condemned pair so that the Legislature could be asked at its next session to start action toward giving the Supreme Court power to pass on the evidence, as well as the law, in all court cases.

In case Governor Fuller has decided to let the men die, there would be no possibility of obtaining concept of the council.

Assistant District Attorney Dudley P. Ranney, of Norfolk County, was called to the Governor's office, arriving shortly after Governor Fuller and personal counsel, Atty. Joseph Wiggin, began work.

The Norfolk attorney did not make a final argument last week before the Governor as his defense counsel, but he made one today.

Ranney seemed disturbed when he left the Governor's office an hour later.

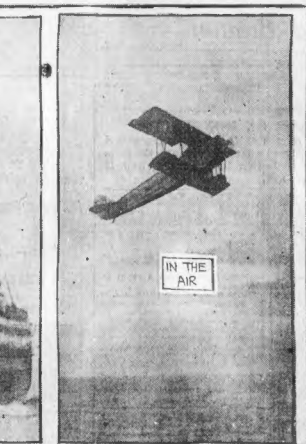

It was impossible to tell from his careful answers to questions whether or not he had heard something that had shaken his confident assurance that the decision would uphold the courts.

ARGUES FROM MEMORY.
He explained that he had been called from his vacation on ten minutes' notice and had been given no time to pick up notes on the way

QUIT JAIL IN KHLTS, NOW FACES ANOTHER

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 2 (A.P.)—President Coolidge expects to leave the Black Hills to return to Washington early in September. It was stated officially today. No definite date has been considered. The Executive, meanwhile, has no plans to make a pilgrimage to Yellowstone National Park, as reported, nor to his birthplace in Plymouth, Vt.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

'Old Glory' Given Last Test by Rome Fliers

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.)—With completion of preliminary tests of the monoplane Old Glory for its projected non-stop flight to Rome, plans have been disclosed for another non-stop flight with Constantinople as its objective.

Captain Rene Fonck, French war ace, whose attempted take-off on a flight across the Atlantic, last September, ended in disaster, will attempt the 6,100-mile hop to Constantinople instead of the 3,000-mile flight to Paris.

Indications were that the plane in which Lloyd W. Bertand and J. D. Hill hope to fly to Rome would be ready by next week, although Bertand declined to predict when the take-off would be.

Bertand and Hill expect to complete two tests by the end of the week. After that the plane will be ready for the flight over a course that will be determined by weather conditions at the time of the hop-off.

'GET THAT BAIL, OR FLOWERS, MOTHER!'

Edward Shallow, 15, threatened in East Cambridge District Court to take his own life today unless his mother promptly secured $4,000 bail for his release on the charge of attacking a 15-year-old girl.

Shallow was arrested in Providence and was turned over to the Middlesex county authorities. Judge Arthur P. Stone fixed his bail and continued the case. The youth's mother was in court at the time.

"You'd better get that bail before tomorrow or you will be buying no flowers," the youth announced to his mother as he was led from the court room to jail.

GETS AS FAR AS HUB, BUT 'NO FUNDS'

A tired little girl of 9, dragging a heavy suitcase, made her way into the lobby of the Hotel Touraine today and dropped wearily into one of the big lobby chairs.

A clerk and the captain of the bellies hastened to her. Fanning herself with a prim little handkerchief, she gazed with wide eyes at them as they questioned her. To passing her childish composure, she explained:

"I'm on my way to Hollywood to get into the movies."

"I started from Cambridge early today and I got tired so I thought I'd rest here awhile before going on."

The clerk and the bellboy gazed at her in amazement. "Where is your money?" asked the clerk.

"Well, that's just it. I haven't any, and I am a little hungry," came the sad reply.

To the police at the Lagrange street station the enigmatic screen star said:

"I am Miss Etile Dahlstedt and I live at No. 27 Forest street, Cambridge."

Instead of proceeding to Hollywood, Etile was escorted home by its police.

PAROLED MAN HELD IN DEATH

Frank Blonzo, paroled Concord prison, who is charged with stabbing one policeman and causing the death of a former policeman while resisting arrest, was held under $5,000 for the grand jury, when a faced Judge Devlin in Municipal court today.

Blonzo, according to the police, started armed when he was taken by Patrolman Henry H. Beatty of the East Dedham street station for minor arrest.

He stabbed the policeman three times near the neck and when Joseph Donahue, a senior officer, went to the aid of his colleague, Blonzo is alleged to have knocked him down. Blonzo's head struck the curb and he died several days later.

Blonzo's police record, examined by Judge Devlin, fills several pages.

MOTHER IS HELD AS KIDNAPER

Mother love triumphed over fear of the law when Mrs. Pauline Staskevitch of Bernard street, Dorchester, kidnapped her nine-year-old son from his father, only to lose the boy again today by order of court.

In addition to the loss of her son, she was arraigned in Municipal Court on a charge of kidnapping and held $1,000 for hearing August 14.

Although the boy was said to be a few months, his screams resounded through the courtroom when the father, Adolph Staskevitch, took him away.

The couple were separated a year ago and custody of the boy was given to the father. A few days ago, according to the police, the mother, after a three hour fight, obtained entrance to the home of her husband at No. 45 Allen street, West End, and departed with the little boy. The police went to the Dorchester address, where they broke in a door. They found the boy under a bed.

Would-Be Cop Struck by Train, Unhurt in Non-Stop Somersault

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 2 (A.P.)—Harry Colson, lanky candidate for the police force, was today very lame and bruised, but more than anything surprised. He was bumped by a locomotive in much the traditional way of a cop.

Colson, with other action hankers, was reading a track of the Boston & Maine Railroad, near the Green street crossing. An approaching train on the main track made so much noise Colson did not hear another which came from the rear.

He was tossed into the air, formed a complete somersault, and landed in the ditch. Not a bone was broken.

Police went to the Dorchester address, where they broke in a door. They found the boy under a bed.

TAKE ACTION ON SAGGO CASE

Fall River, Aug. 2.—Despite persistent rumors that a resolution on the Saggo-Vanetti case would be presented today at the 431 annual convention of the Massachusetts Branch of the American Federation of Labor, it had not appeared when the convention adjourned at four for a trip to Newport. The session will be resumed tomorrow morning.

Wendell Phillips, Thos. of Boston, champion of the old age pension bill, created a sensation when he declared that last Winter his bill was given the "Clue of Justice" by a certain organization.

John P. Sullivan of Fall River, took the floor and after stating that Thos. meant a certain organization which he named, requested the convention not to let Thos. speak longer unless he refrained from personal attacks. He promised to do so and was allowed to go on.

Joint report of officers of the Massachusetts Branch of the American Federation of Labor has been submitted to delegates in convention here.

Analysis of many workers toward organization is scored, and company unions, stock sharing, and some systems are opposed. Organization, however, admits in a standard. Greater activity and affiliation of independent unions with the State group.

The Sherman anti-trust law, designed to curb powerful financial interests, the report declares, "has been used to crush and destroy or organized labor." Repeat of the law is urged, and the injunction is attacked. Abolition of child labor is urged.

The Federation is committed to a shorter work day and shorter work week. It is claimed machinery in the hands of the few, and that shorter hours should follow and allow the worker to use his spare time "to develop spiritually, physically and culturally."

HALF WAGES ALONG WAY

Had stood for hours throughout the morning.

Vincent Willingham, Governor-General of Canada, banded the reception line. He wore full court dress, a cocked hat with ribbons, and medals and insignia on many orders. With him were Cabinet ministers and his military staff.

Passing through the station, with the Prince of Wales in the lead, the party climbed the stairs and came out onto the Victoria Plaza, where cheering thousands gave the future King, his young brother and the Duke of York, their mother.

The Prince of Wales then reviewed 600 veterans of the Great War dressed up like the square, stopping to shake hands and chat for a moment with first one mounted here, then another.

GUESTS HEROES OF WAR.

"If you were wounded, old chap," in what show did you get the military medal? and similar questions could be heard as the Prince passed through the ranks and the veterans shook hands with the young man who, a few years ago, had been a Canadian Army Corps in France.

After then, the Dragoon drawn up in the square on their bay chargers, with red jackets, shining brass, and waving plumes and tilted lances, marked a flashing picture in the bright sun. The Prince moved away, posed for the cameras and mounted his car and entered his car for the first time in his clearing through to the official reception on Parliament Hill.

In the second car Prince George followed. Then came Premier Baldwin with the Canadian Prime Minister, Mr. King. In the fourth car, the Duke of York.

5,000 KING FOR PRINCES.

The short ride up Parliament Hill was a steady roar of acclamation. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, the British Premier.

On the lawn flanking the Canada House of Parliament, tens of thousands of people were jammed. The invited guests of officials in front, a choir of 2,000 young voices greeted the Prince of Wales with a specially written song "Canada, His Home."

Worlds of welcome were spoken and rolled to be the Prince of Wales on his own behalf and that of Prince George. Then Premier King welcomed the Prince and Premier Baldwin the deep emotion with warm greetings in every city since landing have numbered.

Prior to the speeches, the Prince presented the red-coated governor-general's foot guards, the Order of the British Empire, and a stirring picture in their heavy for bulging as they came to the "present arms."

GUESTS AT STATE DINNER.

Immediately after these ceremonies the royal party and Mr. Baldwin left for the government House to lunch with Vincent Willingham, the governor-general of Canada.

They remain there for a garden party in the afternoon, and will return to the centre of Ottawa tonight for a State dinner.

Somewhat of a surprise came during the lunch when Premier King announced that the Prince of Wales had accepted membership in the Order of the British Empire. The Prince was presented with the minutes of his meeting and pointing him to the council and signed today by the Governor-General.

Hugh G. Gibson, head of the American delegation, authorized the Associated Press today to deny that he had received instructions from President Coolidge to end the conference.

The President, he said, had left the question of termination of the conference entirely to his delegation.

Great Britain has ten 10,000-ton cruisers actually under construction or with material assembled for the work, and a total of 8,000 tons.

The British fleet had only two 16,000-ton cruisers building, but only signed contracts for six others. It is believed work on the new ones and upon the additional ships necessary to reach parity with Great Britain in this class of vessels would keep the American shipbuilding yards fully occupied until 1931.

At Andrew square the conference of the British and the United States drew square, however, hundreds of skilled workers took roundabout courses the night and care until they managed to reach the crowded square.

NAB SUSPECT IN SHOOTING

Lynn police believe that with the arrest of Joseph Rizzo of Medford, they have uncovered a ring of swindlers operating a brand new game. The new, high-speed swindle has to do with dogs, according to the police.

Members of the gang steal a valuable dog, the police say. Other members sell the dog at a reduced figure. Then the dog is stolen again. The new, high-speed swindle has to do with dogs, according to the police.

Wally and Purser Fortin were treated at the hospital for cuts. Lieut. Hines, whose back was wrenched, went home, refusing to go to a hospital.

Bookman R. Reed of Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, operator of the other car, escaped with a slight shaking up.

According to the police the liquor maid car, driven by Purser and with Lieutenant Hines in the front seat, was proceeding along Berkeley street toward headquarters. Miss Reed's car was rolling along Newbury street, bound between. The two machines came together at the corner, the police car being turned. Daily and Clark were pinned between the machines, the rear seat of which they had been occupying with Garrett and Wally. The others climbed out through a window, and it was necessary for them to tear away part of the car to get at their unconscious brother.

Traffic Officer John J. Coughlin, on duty at Boylston and Berkeley streets, hurried to their aid, and the injured men were sent to the hospital in a taxi.

Lieutenant Hines then sent the others for treatment and himself went home. Miss Reed's car is owned by William T. Snow of No. 137 Bay State road.

ARCHITECT IS HELD IN $1000 IN THEFT OF AUTO

John J. Manning, an architect of Hancock street, Beacon Hill, pleaded guilty to the larceny of an automobile in Municipal court, today, and then a short time later he told the court he was not guilty, and did not know the machine to which he was arrested had been stolen. Manning told the court when the police stopped the car, he was endeavoring to reach his home. The prisoner declared, was his companion.

"I have a very flexible imagination," Judge Snow observed, and he held Manning in $1,000 bail for the return of the grand jury.

FIGHT RATE CUT ORDERED IN WORCESTER

Charging that the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities has interpreted the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States differently from any other section of the country, Atty. Robert O. Dodge to Federal Court today petitioned a bench of three judges to issue an order of three judges to restrain a rate reduction order by the Department against the Worcester Electric Light Company, pending litigation concerning the validity of the mandate.

The hearing today was before Circuit Court Judges George Breeman, Charles Johnson and District Court Judge Lewis.

GIVES THREE REASONS.

Three reasons were advanced by Atty. Dodge in support of his plea. He declared the validity of the Department order, in the light of decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, was very much in doubt and framed an issue grave enough to justify intervention by the Federal Court. In the second place he cited the irreparable harm threatening the Worcester corporation if the rate reduction were put into effect.

"I Didn't," Said Nora, and Then the Judge Told One, Too

The alibi that she "never knew she had it" failed to save Nora Smith when arraigned in Municipal Court today on a charge of shoplifting.

"Your defense," Judge Dowd replied, "reminds me of the story of the doctor who stole a larder. He told the judge he had picked up the end of a rope in the field and when he reached home he had a horse. 'You are guilty,' the judge then placed the case on file.

The hearing today went into effect now and subsequently, through proposed litigation, was adjourned for the purpose of no loss to customers.

Thirty, Atty. Dodge argued that the loss would be sustained by the customers of the company if they continued to pay the current rate as a bond filed by the corporation would reimburse them for the loss.

The Supreme Court has ruled that a public service corporation is entitled to a return on the fair value of its property, while the Massachusetts Public Utilities body has adopted the theory that the return must be made on the amount of capital invested by stockholders, said Atty. Dodge.

Hearing on the case was continued through the afternoon session.

FISHING ASHORE IN FOG ON CASTLE ISL.

With a heavily laden fishing schooner hauled aground on Castle island and South Boston, and scores of other vessels held up in the fog, the fishing fleet on the coast was caught in a most unfortunate predicament.

The storm which swept over South Boston from the coast and the fog which rolled over the coast and blotted out practically all visibility.

Early today the fishing schooner Marguerite Parker, in command of Captain George Perry, and carrying a crew of sixteen men and a cargo of about twenty tons of fish, was ashore on Castle island in the fog.

While the fog cleared on the island could be heard, Captain Perry said his hearing completely and the schooner nosed her way into the net.

The schooner is owned by Arnold Winsor of the Fish Pier, and, according to A. P. Parker of the firm, the vessel will be loaded with difficulty at high tide.

The schooner was proceeding to her berth from the South Channel (fishing grounds when she ran ashore).

The New York-Boston steamer Boston of the Eastern Steamship Company was more than two hours late in docking here today, having been held up by fog encountered along the coast and in Boston harbor.

The Hamburg-American liner Cleveland, scheduled to sail from Boston to New York yesterday afternoon with 500 passengers aboard, did not leave her berth until this morning, when she sailed her way slowly through the harbor fog in tow.

Ferryboats and other harbor craft were forced to proceed at a snail's pace.

Following the record-breaking rain and storms of last night, the Boston weather bureau today predicted fair and cooler weather for Boston and southern New England.

The storm area has moved to the northern part of Maine, while a cool wave is coming east from Illinois, where the temperature has dropped from ten to fifteen degrees. By the time the cool wave reaches New England it will have lost some of its force.

COAST GUARD AUTO FATALITY

Groverton, Aug. 2.—Carl Annap, a Coast Guardman of this city, was held to a hearing when arraigned in District Court today as the result of an automobile accident in which Edward Proctor, No. 89 Pleasant street, was killed.

According to Marshal Whidden, additional charges of operating while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident will be preferred against Annap.

The arraignment charge was operating so as to endanger the lives of the public.

The fatal accident occurred on Pleasant avenue, where Annap's machine and that driven by Proctor, a Buick, collided at the intersection of the windshield and the broken glass which injured him. He died on the way to the hospital.

Proctor was the son of a widowed mother, his father, a fisherman, having been drowned some years ago. With Annap at the time were Robert S. Hale, a baseball player, and Maurice Polier, both of Boston.

ASKS TRI-STATE COAL PARLEY

Columbus, O., Aug. 2 (A.P.)—Gov. Donahy today asked the Governors of Illinois and Indiana to join him in requesting a reconvening of the interstate conference of miners and operators representing the central competitive field in the hope of settling the coal mine wage dispute "on an economic basis."

As soon as Governor Donahy receives word from Governors Ed Jackson of Indiana and Len Small of Illinois that they are agreeable to the plan, he will call the Ohio coal strike situation in Ohio to reach a point where public welfare demands breaking of the deadlock between the United Mine Workers and operators. He had been told similar conditions prevailed in Indiana and Illinois.

Little King Doesn't Like Morning Wine, Even if It's Holy

Bucharest, Rumania, Aug. 2 (A.P.)—Princess Mother Helen took her seven-year-old son, King Michael, to communion today. When the priest was about to offer the consecrated wine to the boy king as he knelt before the altar, Michael said: "I don't drink wine in the morning."

Surprised, but amused, the priest assured the royal youngster that holy wine was not the same as other wine and that he must take at least a sip if he wanted to be a good boy and receive the blessing.

Looking over at his mother, who was an expression of subdued pain and amusement, Michael finally took the sacrament. When he got home, his mother gave him a talking to.

4 JAILED WITH THEIR MOTHER

Linden, Ala., Aug. 2 (A.P.)—Mrs. Gertrude Gibbs, 24, daughter of a wealthy Thomaston planter, was in the Maringo County Jail here today, charged with murder, following the shooting to death of her husband, Jack Gibbs, a huge tall planter. With her in her cell were her children, an eight-year-old boy, three-year-old twins and a three-month-old baby.

When deputies arrived they found the children around the man's body lying "Daddy."

BETTY ALDEN'S SOCIETY COMMENT

Old Sol Shines, but Not for Long on Festivities at Bailey Beach, Newport

OLD SOL IS NOT BEING SO very kind to Newport's Four Hundred. Ever so briefly did he come out yesterday. Along with the Newport's great and near great, he shone for a short space at Bailey's. And like the fashionable he timed his appearance for 12 to 3 of the clock. As the first smart motor with its dignified chauffeur whirled to a stop before the sacred porch of Old Sol, a faint glimmer is promised of sunlight. And when the last shining car had flashed away, toward the drive or avenue, Old Sol departed, too. No for brightness the moonlight rendezvous of the Newporters took most of its color from the woman's frocks, and the gaudily striped tents and umbrellas that give a measure of seclusion to the best talked of beaches.

MISS JULIA BERWIND'S YEL-LOW silk frock brought its bright measure of sunny light to the scene. In fact, this popular and stately young woman was a sympathy in golden tan and yellow, but wise that, her handbag and her frock in tone. From top to toe she harmonized. Miss Mary Ames, attractive blossom from Boston's garden of small girls, likewise brightened the scene. Miss Ames is the daughter of Mrs. F. Lohrop Ames (mistress of one of Newport's attractive villas) and sister of that noted young yachtman, F. Lohrop Ames, who takes delight in doing the broad Atlantic in a yacht. He's doing very thing even now, along with a picked crew of Harvard classmates.

MISS AMES WORE A SPORTS dress that combined white and the mustard yellow color that enjoys a certain Summer-time vogue. A yellow neckerchief fluttered in the breeze, as she breezed away in her smart motor. Her feet, like those, not yet dried from her dip in the briny, drenched sand, were as white as the sand. And she, too, took her pleasure on the beach, from Casino to beach, to luncheon, to Casino and so to the evening's affair with several of the Newporters.

QUITE AT THE OTHER SIDE of the social picture may be found that Boston leader who also belongs with Newport's ultra set.

MISS MARY AMES
The daughter of Mrs. F. Lohrop Ames of Boston and North Easton is one of the important young girls in the Newport colony.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, mistress of a Boston town house, a fine old home in Lancaster and a Newport villa, who moves with calm serenity through the mazes of lively Newport. She even at times disdains the pomp of motor and chauffeur and walks over to Bailey's, not a very long jaunt from her place in the avenue. Yesterday Mrs. Thayer was in white, a knitted frock that carried a hint of gray in its weaving and had a smart narrow line at the throat. As a governor of the Casino Mrs. Thayer is a Newporter of assured place and distinction.

MRS. KENNETH BUDD, BEAUTIFULLY arrayed in a black and white printed chiffon banded in black, with large black hat, was found Bailey's sacred waters, decorated by an influx of oil. Even the powers that be at Bailey's, dressed in white, were not immune. Mrs. Budd is the mother of one of Newport's smart young girls, the Miss Mary Ames who has a Boston affiliation—through the maternal line.

MISS ALICE BURBANK of the Boston family of that name before she wedded Austin Gray. Both Mrs. Budd and Miss Gray add materially to Newport's sartorial embellishment.

BOSTON HAD A MOST REPRESSIVE number in the pathfinder. A small number, to be sure, but very much of the elite. Mrs. Russell S. Codman was there, handsome and regal in a satin evening frock done with pearls. She is in Newport as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Gordon Knox Bell at Green End cottage. Mrs. John Chipman Gray came with Miss Ellen Mason, whose guest she is. Distinguished Bostonians of the older regime, both Mrs. Gray and Miss Mason, and both keenly interested in the evening's entertainment.

REAR ADMIRAL CAMERON McRAE WINSLOW brought his three stunning daughters, the Misses Natalie, Theodora and Esmé. Possessing beauty and charm, a pretty and marvelous taste in what to wear, this trio is always delightful to behold. Individually they are most effective, as a group they are superlative. They had with them Miss Helen Rhodes, a pretty and vivacious girl, over from the North Shore to take in the Newport society life.

THE PRINCESS MIOUET DE BRAGANZA's furquise evening gown was weighted with many pearls and about her throat were wound several strands of pearls. Mrs. Lawrence Phelps Tower, in a sumptuous décolleté, watched her spouse step through the minutest opposition. Mrs. Anna B. Sande, a handsome couple, those two, in the satins and laces of more formal times. Mrs. Corning Tangeman was in the smart audience. Mrs. Tangeman is a cousin of Mrs. Walter Martin Frost and both were born Harbors, of the Manhattan family of importance and great wealth.

MISS JULIA BERWIND'S YEL-LOW silk frock brought its bright measure of sunny light to the scene. In fact, this popular and stately young woman was a sympathy in golden tan and yellow, but wise that, her handbag and her frock in tone. From top to toe she harmonized. URGES ALLIANCE OF SOUTH, WEST TO AID FARMS

Williamstown, Aug. 2 (A.P.)—An agricultural and political alliance between the South and West as a solution of the farmers' difficulties was advocated before the Institute of Politics today by Dr. Charles A. Beard.

"Presently," said Dr. Beard, "I hope the new confederation may be effected. It would be good for the country and give politics a refreshing tone, even if it made the voters of 1932 take to their tents in consternation."

Discussing the McNary-Haugen Farm Relief Bill, he said the measure "might not improve the lot of the farmer, but might help as much as wearing cowboy breeches and fishing with worms in Western waters."

He said he was not passing judgment on the McNary-Haugen bill, but said "most of the arguments against it seem to me to apply also to the economic and juristic devices of capitalism."

To call it paternalistic and then turn around and supply a monetary loan to shippers, a protective tariff to manufacturers, and naval protection to anyone who tries to make money in China, said Dr. Beard, is to "disgrace the show into a comedy."

Dr. Beard characterized the bill as experimental adventure, but declared to draw a long face and weep over the camel who might die.

He said that he was not passing judgment on the McNary-Haugen bill, but said "most of the arguments against it seem to me to apply also to the economic and juristic devices of capitalism."

Rain Starts Fire In Drug Store At Bridgewater

Bridgewater, Aug. 2 (A.P.)—The heavy rainfall caused a fire, department officials announced after conducting an investigation of a blaze at the Dudley drug store.

Rain lashed through the roof and down onto the electric light wires over the ceiling of the store. A short circuit developed and there was a merry little blaze going when the firemen arrived. There was but little fire damage.

A rise of a few hundred dollars on the part of the Federal government and at the same moment extending and protecting its market of manufactures is to invite the laughter of the world of Olympus.

RUMANIA ARMS TO KEEP CAROL IN EXILE

Berlin, Aug. 2 (U.N.S.)—The Rumanian government is calling upon 500,000 reserves as a precaution against possible uprisings following statements in Paris by Prince Carol, it was reported here today.

Official reasons for the military movements are given as "Manoeuvres." Premier Bratianu is reported prepared to keep Prince Carol out of Rumania at all costs, even though the public is hostile regarding the Prince's return.

Carol has many followers among the Rumanian people, some of whom hope for promotion through his restoration. Rumanians might be able to effect the pro-Carol influence in the regular army.

Most observers believe Carol might endanger his life by returning.

Nokoi

as low as $37.00

Old standards of quality—new standards of value

There is no longer any reason or excuse for accepting anything less than Nokoi—no reason for installing the experimental, "just as good" kind of oil burner built down to a price. For now, in the smaller sizes you can get the same oil burner that is now serving in 35,000 homes—the same oil burner that was selected by the majority of America's automotive manufacturers and engineers, the oil burner primarily responsible for the present development of the industry—as little as you'd pay for the other kind.

Act today and solve the heating problem forever

Now is the time to make your decision—to free your family forever from the drudgery of the coal shovel, to give them not an experiment but a certainty—the greatest degree of comfort and care-free heat ever devised by man.

Don't put it off, for we are rapidly approaching the peak of the selling season and we'll be able to give your installation better care and attention now than later. Every indication points to shortage of oil burners this fall and the sooner you place your order the less chance there would be of disappointment.

Consult today and see the new Silent Nokoi in action. It is a silent, nonconventional, phone or write for an appointment or mail the coupon for detailed information.

DRYS CONSIDER NATIONAL RUM REFERENDUM

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 2 (A.P.)—National officials of the Anti-Saloon League of America will discuss the question of a national referendum on prohibition, and whether they should use the major political parties to endorse prohibition, at a conference at Winona Lake, Ind., Aug. 15 and 16, according to announcement of a national press conference here.

Present candidates for the presidency in the 1928 campaign also will be discussed at the conference, which will take place just prior to the conference of the World League Against Alcoholism.

The Anti-Saloon League statement said: "The attitude of the Anti-Saloon League has been that a national referendum on prohibition would be a waste of time and money inasmuch as it would not be binding on the law makers. The Wets have declared repeatedly that a national referendum would show public sentiment overwhelmingly in favor of repeal of national prohibition."

"Despite the fact that such a national referendum would have no direct effect on the law makers, we are convinced that it would show strong sentiment in favor of prohibition and would be of great value in the campaign of the Wets."

FLOYD BENNETT PRAISES MOST AIRPORT SITE

Remoteness of airfield from their parent cities is one of the things that most forcibly impresses airport planning engineers over United States air bases, says Floyd Bennett, companion of Commander Richard R. Byrd in his Arctic flight and on his coming South Polar flight.

In this respect he commends the selection of the site for the Boston Airport, close to the heart of the metropolis.

3 HURT IN FIRE AT MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Aug. 2.—Three firemen were injured today when they destroyed the James H. Groves Building Company on Beacon street.

The injured are: Andrew Chase, severe burns; W. E. Bowden, cut on head and chest by falling girders; and Irving L. Cray, injured right foot, caused by stepping on nails.

The fire threatened to sweep the length of Beacon street, where more than a score of three-family tenement houses are located. Swamp-Scott sent apparatus to aid the Marlborough fire-fighters.

The fire was discovered by James Groves, owner of the property, a two and one-half story building. He had recently installed new machinery throughout the plant.

Corn Pudding with a Spanish Accent

Here's a brand-new recipe. Not many women know it yet, but it's going to be mighty popular in a short time. It's your old friend corn pudding—but with a Spanish accent! And with a new creamy deliciousness that comes from the super-richness of Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk. Try it!

Spanish Corn Pudding

2 1/2 cups green corn from cob (or 1 can of corn)
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/2 cup Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk
3 eggs beaten

Blend together thoroughly all ingredients. Pour into buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about twenty-five minutes. Serve as an entrée, or as the main course of a light dinner.

Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk is the milk to use in any dish that requires both milk and sugar. It is fresh, pure, full-cream country milk combined with finest sugar. Super-rich because most of the water has been removed. Bottled milk is 87% water. Super-milk because the sugar is blended in a method you can't equal at home.

And super-economical—super-convenient—because it keeps for days after the can is opened—even without ice.

Watch this space for other delicious recipes. And remember this: Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk will cream-and-sugar your coffee to rich, milky perfection—at one-half the cost of separate cream and sugar!—Get it from your grocer today!

The Cat's Paw

ROBERT FERRY SHANNON

Author of "THE TAXI DANCER"

A Story of Sylvia Bryant, Stenographer, Among the Money Crowd

Joyce Ackerman, society woman and wife of Vance Ackerman, a rich broker, appeals to a mutual friend, Alexander Ladd, a successful lawyer, to help her in her battle with Margot Liggett, who has won her husband's affections. Ladd proposes that Mrs. Ackerman engage Sylvia Bryant, his stenographer, a beautiful and charming young girl, as her social secretary.

Mrs. Ackerman agrees and Ladd summons Sylvia. Sylvia finally consents and her father and mother are very much pleased. Ackerman calls for her, introduces her to Margot Liggett and takes her to his home. There she meets Stuart Gifford, a cousin of Ackerman's, who offers to escort her home. Near her door they find Jimmy Devlin, an admirer of Sylvia, waiting for her.

CHAPTER 3
SYLVIA, although vaguely aware of something clandestine in the relations of Ackerman and Margot Liggett, was startled at the effect of the recognition upon the man. He seemed to shrink, almost visibly, as though he had been caught in some guilty action. But it was too late; Margot had seen him and her face was hostile. Sylvia looked straight at her; Ackerman bowed and smiled in a ghastly fashion, but the woman in the box scarcely inclined her head. "I'll catch hell," Ackerman said, unhappily.

"Not from your wife," Sylvia said, with a flash of suspicion. "My wife..." he repeated the words almost. The woman's face had somehow changed; he was as suddenly miserable as though some sinister spell, suddenly, had cast over him. "Joyce is all right—but you don't know Margot," he said.

Several times, previously, Sylvia had sensed in him an evasive weakness, but she had not then been so heartily astounded. It was not physical—his hands seemed perfect—but he shattered something of the spirit. Like a fruit, sound without, corrupt within.

Throughout the whole of the brief, dark, new Vance Ackerman's eyes, Margaret Liggett's eyes were more often than on the stage. If Sylvia had told any claim for him, looking now seemed obliterated. His replies to her casual remarks were evasive and polite.

"We'll get out of here and go straight home," he said as the final curtain fell. If Sylvia had ever stood in any way of him that feeling had passed completely. "Why do you let an outside woman worry you when you have a splendid wife like Mrs. Ackerman of your own?" she demanded sharply, as they rose in their seats.

Ackerman, assisting her with the emine, rose, colored faintly. "Please turn to Page 13, Column 4."

Unwilling to leave his friends, The Three Musketeers

D'Artagnan realized that he had made a terrible error by discovering Milady de Winter's secret of her husband's identity, and he prepared to leave Paris. There he received a command to appear before Cardinal Richelieu.

He obeyed. But the Cardinal merely wished to offer him an officership in his guards.

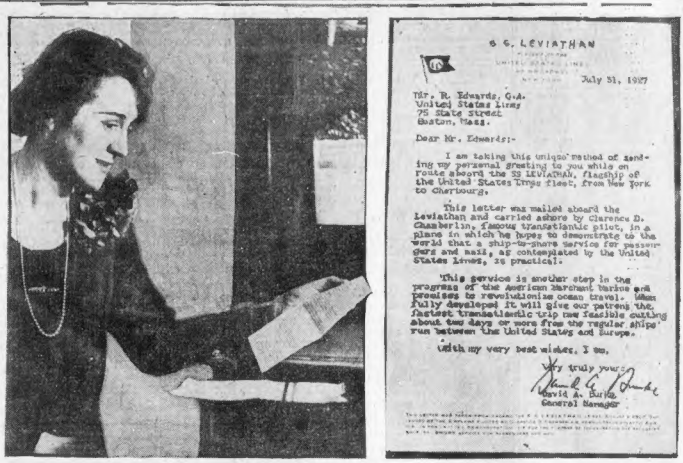

Unwilling to leave his friends, the Three Musketeers, D'Artagnan refused, knowing that without the Cardinal's protection he was in danger. He was not yet a Musketeer, so he went to the scene of Rochelle before the Musketeers arrived. Before his friends joined him, he narrowly escaped being shot twice.

SUSPEND WILL RIDE

What Chamberlin Brought Boston In His Flight

S. S. LEVIATHAN
General Manager
July 31, 1927
Mr. R. Edwards, Gen. United States Lines
75 State Street
Boston, Mass.
Dear Mr. Edwards:

I am taking this unique method of sending my personal greeting to you while on route aboard the SS LEVIATHAN, flagship of the United States Lines fleet, from New York to Charleston.

This service is another step in the progress of the American National Lines and promises to revolutionize sea travel. When fully developed, it will give our passengers the fastest transatlantic trip now feasible, cutting about ten days or more from the regular ships' run between the United States and Europe.

With my very best wishes, I am,
Sincerely,
S. S. Leviathan

HUB'S FIRST SHIP-AIR MAIL
This is the letter General Manager David A. Burke sent to General Agent Edwards in Boston from the Leviathan while she was far out to sea.

Brewster Sees Big U.S. Merchant Ship Victory

"Victory is in sight, and a real merchant marine is our goal," said Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine as he stopped at the Copley-Plaza on his way through Augusta, returning from the conference of Governors at Mackinac Island, Mich.

"Selling our idea of a real American Merchant Marine to four independent Governors, not to mention Congressmen Theodore Burton of Ohio, means more to me and to other advocates of a merchant marine, more to me, than I feel able to express properly in so many words."

"Congressman Burton, former United States Senator from Ohio, was our biggest obstacle at one time. He was one of the leaders in the opposition to the last ship subsidy bill, but now he is ready to support a bill that will be offered at the next Congress for a straight subsidy of as much per ton for every ship flying Old Glory into a foreign port."

"Governor Christopher of Minnesota, McMullen of Nebraska, Patman of Kansas and Dorn of Utah, all became interested in subsidy and please turn to Page 16, Column 4."

Death-Chair Wedding for Doomed Slayer on Execution Eve

Newark, N. J., Aug. 2 (A.P.)—Salvatore Merra, with but three days to live, will be married before he walks to the electric chair in the State Prison at Trenton Friday night.

He will marry the woman with whom he was living when he killed Theodore M. Conway, public servant, in a homicide a year ago.

Frank Kenne, of the Newark Marine League Bureau, left here for Trenton today with the Rev. Cornelius McNeary, Catholic chaplain of the Hudson County Jail, to perform the ceremony.

For many years she has been active in affairs of the Girl Scouts in Massachusetts, while she has devoted much of her time to other philanthropies.

When the Cardinal left, Athos sternly confronted his beautiful but wicked wife. She had thought him dead and was terrified. When he demanded the order from the Cardinal, she gave it to him. It was signed by the Cardinal and stated that the wretched deed was for the good of the State.

SECOND SECTION

CAPTURED IN HUT AND RUN CAR

Halted by Shots of Another Officer; Driver is Held on Many Charges

Two Boston policemen are wondering today whether they will ever be permitted to don uniforms again, while a companion, Theodore A. Wiley, 25, of Riverway, Jamaica Plain, is trying to figure out what will happen to him if convicted of all the charges on which he was arrested in Roxbury court.

The policeman are Thomas Ignotz and James Shannon, both suspended as a result of a wild automobile ride early today in Wiley's car, which was stopped only after four bullets had been fired into the machine by pursuing officers.

The car, with Wiley at the wheel and the two officers as passengers, had crashed into another auto at Dudley and Hingham streets, Roxbury, and then, according to the police, sped away without stopping to see how bad the other car had been damaged.

Patrolman James J. Brady, who witnessed the accident, pursued the fleeing machine in a commandeered car and opened fire with his revolver. Three bullets went through the back of the Wiley car and a fourth shot struck a tire, stopping the car.

The two policemen found in the car were immediately suspended and an investigation was started. In Roxbury court, Wiley was charged with being drunk, driving so as to endanger the public, driving away after an accident, and failing to stop when ordered to do so by an officer.

He was held in $500 bail for a further hearing on August 9.

WOMAN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE IN SOMERVILLE

Police Lieutenant Inspector Thomas G. Dunne of Somerville returned to that city today with Edith Brown, thirty-two, of New York city, whom he arrested in Freehold, N. J., on the charge of larceny of $200 from Margaret H. Hill of Garbans street, West Somerville, several months ago.

The woman was taken to the Somerville Court today and Judge Smith dismissed the lower court charge on which she had been indicted and Lieutenant Dunne took her to the return of empty containers, as specified in said tariffs.

COMES HOME AT NOON TO FIND WIFE DEAD BY GAS

Haverhill, Aug. 2.—When Peter Laver arrived at his home in Haverhill street, for dinner this noon, he found the house filled with gas from an open jet on the stove and his wife, Eva, 46 years old, dead on the dining room floor. Efforts of the police to revive her by aid of the submarine failed.

START WAR ON MILK RATES

About 20,000 producers of dairy products in New England and Eastern New York, through the New England Milk Producers' Association, have filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, alleging freight rates on milk, cream and other dairy products are unreasonable and discriminatory as compared with the New York-Philadelphia rate scale.

Various railroads, including the Boston & Albany, Boston & Maine Central Vermont, Central New York and the Erie, are accused of discriminating against dairy products in violation of the commission's finding in a previous case, "narrowing" to exempt said railroads from liability for the return of empty containers, as specified in said tariffs.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

TUESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1927

JACKSON WON'T FIGHT ON SEPT. 22

Ex-Champ Wants More Time: Rickard Says Sept. 22 is as Late as He Will Hold Off

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey will not be ready to meet Gene Tunney in a return heavyweight championship match on September 22, but will request that the fight be staged any day after September 25, Dempsey said today. He would insist upon this delay in deference to conditions which he could not foresee when he was in the East recently.

Dempsey's manager, Mike Jacobs, said today that Dempsey was not ready to fight on September 22, but would be ready to fight on September 25. Jacobs said that Dempsey was not ready to fight on September 22, but would be ready to fight on September 25. Jacobs said that Dempsey was not ready to fight on September 22, but would be ready to fight on September 25.

"Sept. 22 is the Latest Date," Says Rickard
Chicago, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Tunney fight, said today that he would hold the fight on September 22, the latest date possible, if Dempsey was not ready to fight on September 22.

Why should keep it to myself?

AS THE song had it, "—but I won't be happy, till I make you happy, too." I want you to share with me the joy of a pipe and Prince Albert. I may be prejudiced, but I don't believe you can find the brand of pipe-joy I'm talking about in any other way.

Why, the very moment you open the tidy red tin and breathe that glorious P. A. aroma, you know—then and there—you are going to like this tobacco, and like it lots. And, if you still have the slightest doubt, it will vanish the instant you taste the smoke itself.

Cool as a March rain beating against the window-pane. Sweet as the flowers that attract the honey-bees. Mild as the greeting of a rival—mild, but with that full tobacco body that makes the perfectly balanced smoke. A whole world of satisfaction in every single puff.

Prince Albert has pleased more pipe-smokers than any other tobacco before or since. You can ask any jimmy-piper. But the way to really know is to buy yourself a tidy red tin, tuck a load into your pipe, and light up. That's better than anybody's opinion.

ABIE THE AGENT

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

Most men seem to have no discretion when it comes to mixing drinks—or women.

It takes at least two drinks to make a man feel completely happy and comfortable, and at least two love-drinks to make him feel that his life is completely balanced.

"Every man," says Dorothy Parker, "has two women in his life—his wife and the woman he loves best to himself." So he is one to appeal to his "better self" and one to appeal to his "worse self." One to cure his headaches and one to help him acquire them. One for week days—and one for holidays!

But WHY does he try to mix them? The old saying is, "Here's to our wives and sweethearts!"
They never meet! And excellent psychology worked out by some wise old runder, who had learned by experience that oil and water will NOT mix and that lighted matches and gasoline are bound to cause combustion.

Life would be so much simpler and sweeter for the average man if ONE woman would only be "reasonable" about accepting the "OTHER woman"—and if the "OTHER woman" would only be docile and responsive at his magnanimous suggestion that they "would just love each other" if they could meet.

Robert Humberd said that "two people who love the same things, try each other, and then want one of these things happens to be the same man!"

You simply can't MAKE two women see how much outer and another and pleasant everything would be if they would just "get together" and share the attention and affection, the ear and the

...kisses, over which they insist on squabbling.

Men grow gray and DIE in the cities, trying to work out this problem! "Bring to make a wife 'understand' this is a good 'unsolved' when her husband invites her to come down to the office and go to lunch with him and the 'new little blonde stenographer'.

O to make the "other woman" realize that his wife is sensible and kind-hearted and would just love to meet the "new little blonde" who has been such an inspiration, and such a good pal to him during her absence.

RADIO DIALOG

By C. WILLIAM RADOS

TEX RICARD proposes a tax on radio fans. In the first place we must have called fans in this mechanical age. We have plenty of electrical fans, what we need is fly swatters and more mosquito coils.

"Telling Tex" says "20,000,000 persons, it is estimated, get a word picture of the Bumper-Sticker contest, just as quickly as those seated in Yankee stadium and get something for nothing that the lookers and to pay well."

Tex the Terrible Texer wants a big stadium. Even with a $20 top he says he could not go better than $125,000, which everyone will admit is barely enough to pay for the price of a couple of heating stoves.

But if the 50,000,000 listeners each could collect $125,000,000. This is high finance but Tex voted in the last election and is beginning to do things the way the government does them.

THE WITTY SAYINGS OF MEDBURY

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

WELL informed politicians seem to think that Henry Ford is going to run for president next year on the repair shop ticket.

HE stands a good chance of being elected. He has at least one vote under every flivver.

THOUSANDS of "tourists" would like to see him go to Washington so that they could use the White House for a service station.

EDSEL will probably run for vice president. So far Henry has kept everything in the family.

MR. FORD needs a rest and realizes that the presidential chair is more comfortable than the seats in any of his automobiles.

COLLIES are all right, but if Han-ry is elected it would be more appropriate to use Rin Tin Tin as the White House pet.

EVEN if he's nominated, the election won't be a cinch. There are over a million Ford owners in this country and he'll miss those votes.

It would be embarrassing to have him as our chief executive.
Washington chauffeurs would have to raise their hoods every time they rattled past his mansion.

HENRY certainly looked out for himself. He invented the Lincoln so that he wouldn't have to ride in a Ford.

HE also built a tractor in case he ever wanted to do any touting in Kansas.

HE sold thousands of Fordsons last year. The speed cops are using them in Iowa.

HE's sedan and touring cars are keeping busy all over the country running down voters.

THEY'll come in handy on election day, knocking the public to the polls.

BALLOTS will be printed on all the bumpers.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, hence State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.

4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish slavery among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Happy Land

Drive in by Way of Kittery

If you are looking for the picture of someone with the corners of his mouth turned down, keep away from the State of Maine.

More money in the banks, more Summer visitors than were ever known before and more coming every hour, tell the story, at least in part.

In the first two weeks of July, 28,034 automobiles entered Maine by way of the bridge at Kittery.

Last year, at the summit of the tourist season, in August, the high-water mark for a single week at the same point was 28,000, or about 3,000 fewer than at the BEGINNING of the PRESENT season.

In the four-day period, June 30-July 3, more than 300 Pullman coaches came into the Pine Tree State from New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

This was the largest number of Pullmans that ever crossed the border in any similar period in all the history of Maine railroads.

In a single day, more than 1,000 boys and girls arrived at the Union Station in Portland to be distributed among the camps and lodges of Western Maine.

Money? Reports from the banks show deposits more than $28,000,000 in excess of last year's total.

Maine is sitting pretty, if not on top of the world at least in the immediate neighborhood, and all because the foremost among her leaders have been able to forget politics, business and sectional rivalries, and all the other things that separate and divide, and get together for the greatest good of their wonderful State.

So Many Kinds of Beauty

No Man Has a Right to Complain

THE BEAUTY OF POLAND

Men have fought for beauty, and made GEESE of themselves. Read about Helen of Troy.

Men have committed suicide for beauty, making FOOLS of themselves. They have ruined themselves for beauty's sake; they have written poems and plays about beauty; men have murdered each other through jealousy caused by beauty. The poetry is the right thing. Beauty should inspire poetry, never hatred or jealousy.

We say SHOULD, but that isn't what it DOES. In this column, at the top, is Mademoiselle Labedzka, who represented Poland at the recent test pageant of fair women, which the Prince of Wales saw in Spain, at Seville.

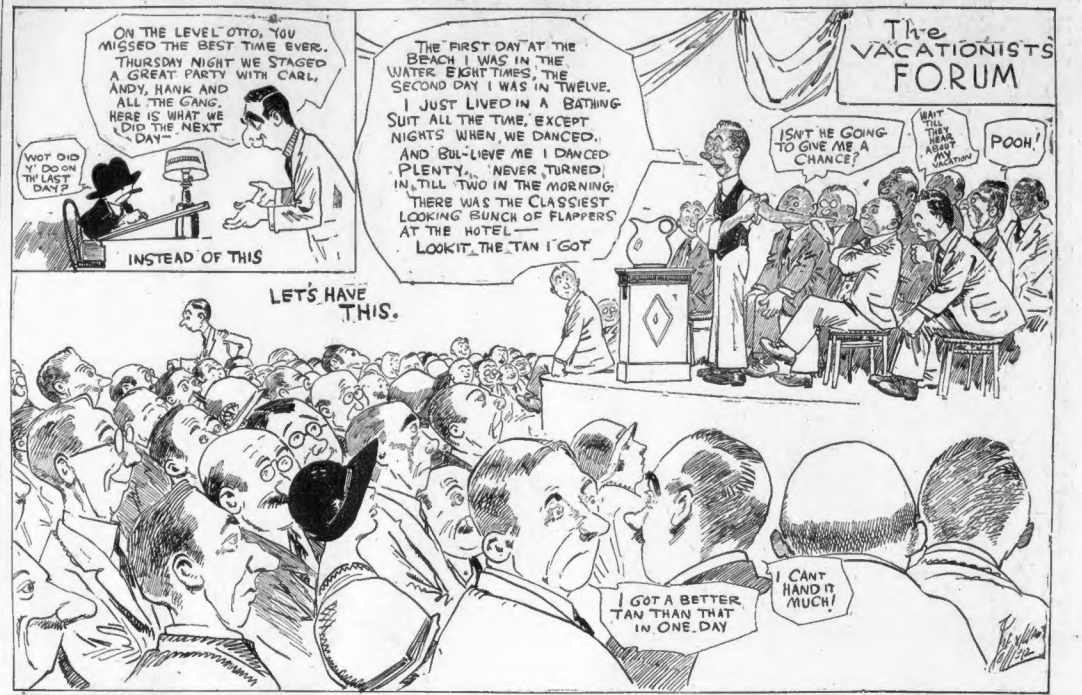

ITALY'S MOST BEAUTIFUL FACE

Next comes the marvelously beautiful Signorina Marcelia Albani, representing Italy in the Seville pageant. The fair Polish girl and the beautiful dark Italian are as far apart as the lily and the dark rose. Both are beautiful.

It is probable that beauty has done more good in the world than any other thing. Men have wanted to have it for themselves, and in trying to DESERVE it and GET it they have done their duty on the battlefield, in Parliament, in industry.

Beauty has caused men to work hard, for there is no

LINDY GIVES TRAFFIC BY AIR A FILLIP

By DR. FRANK CRANE

NOTHING is more creative than imagination. Creation is not so much the work of the hands or even of the brain, speaking of it as a logic machine, as it is of dreams. The real inventor is a sort of poet whose

"Eye, in a fine frenzy rolling,
Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven;
And as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name."

Colonel Lindbergh's exploit has fired the imagination of the world, and his example has already been emulated to a degree, by many.

One of its most practical results is to give impetus to commercial aviation.

There will undoubtedly be a large expansion of aerial mail. Air mail not only goes much quicker, but a letter coming by air is much more likely to be read first.

The same German who made the Los Angeles, which successfully sailed over the ocean some years ago, is proposing to make an airship to circumnavigate the globe.

The Spanish government is endowing an air company which will carry passengers and freight from Seville to South America.

The air lines are humming. Colonel Lindbergh has given air traffic a new fillip.

A company has formed to make airships that will do the round trip from Los Angeles to San Francisco and back in one day. When that is completed people can breakfast in Los Angeles, have lunch in San Francisco and return to Los Angeles for supper at 6.

The main trouble with long-distance flying is the weight of gasoline the ships have to carry, but the Spanish propose to use a weightless gas and, if that is successful, they will do much to improve traffic by air.

This writer can remember when riding in an automobile was considered quite an exploit. It was a dangerous and exciting business. Travel by air, which now seems out of the question to many, will, in a few years, be a commonplace thing.

fortunately truth in the statement of a cynical young beauty from the movies, "The power of sex appeal is as nothing compared with the power of a cheek's appeal."

These are two beautiful women, but, fortunately for this world, every young man who sees this column has in his mind's eye some girl so much more beautiful, in his opinion, than both these put together, that there is absolutely no comparison. That is the girl that he hopes to marry, or that he has married.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

THIS is the time of year when New England is the scene of thousands of gasoline trailers. They pour into Boston in all kinds of parties and cars and clothes. The whickered, clay pipe driver in soiled khaki trousers with the battered flannel shirt is just as likely to be the president of a college or a commissioner of public works.

In Boston's camp come all sorts of vehicles. Those who must see the country, but have no money, purchase a $20 car and $20 worth of tent and equipment. They manage to see about as much as the rich, although not so comfortably.

On the other hand are those people who purchase a new car, equip it with a small house and tour around the country, spending from ten to fifty dollars a day.

The Cape is a great gathering place for these cars after they have inspected Boston. Some of them do, of course, stay a short while. Camps near Boston is a professor of English who is spending six weeks at Harvard Summer School. When school has closed he and the While across they saw such shocking things as a woman smoking a cigarette. Now they shock the few farmers who have never seen a woman smoke.

Drop into any of the larger stores downtown and see the great array of summer apparel the women have. But watch how many of the housewife's fingers make a bang when they light a cigarette.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHY does Mrs. Jones get those dreadful sick headaches every so often? Why does Uncle Fred have those sinking spells every time he gets a new job and has to quit?

For the same reason that little Billy, aged eight, develops a tummy ache when he has to go to school on the day the circus comes to town, say the psychoscientists.

Bill develops that tummy ache for reasons highly convenient to himself. It's a means to an end—a circumlocution. And so are the great majority of our human illnesses—means to an end.

Then are these people just pre-empting? Aren't their headaches and sick spells real? Yes, they're real—real as real as any attack of mumps or scarlet fever rash, and their victims are not pretending when they groan in anguish. Nevertheless, in a vast number of cases, they have visited that anguish on themselves, to escape from some condition which is even more unpleasant to them.

Lillian Wills, Andre Tridon reveals the deep, dark secret of many a sick headache.

"The woman suffering from sick headaches is almost invariably a weak individual who either shrinks from making decisions or is dominated by her husband, perhaps burdened with household duties if not with several other assistants."

Postpones Things. Provoked by her sick headaches she can postpone all decision, let alone she shoulder the responsibilities and incur criticism in pass of

"In her home she becomes a center of attention and sympathy. Her husband must look and act sorry whether he feels sorry or not. She is relieved of every household duty. The children are silenced. Neighbors and relatives offer assistance. Doctor calls, chats and brings news."

For one, two or three days mother has MADE HERSELF FELT, has COMPELLED everyone to REALIZE HER IMPORTANCE and is herself A LITTLE MORE CONVINCED OF HER REAL IMPORTANCE.

And she resumes its humdrum course this mother, feeling the necessity of making another decision or realizing the possibility of defeat and humiliation, being reminded of her own importance, repeats the process more to a FLIGHT INTO SICKNESS.

"A flight into sickness"—not deliberate, conscious flight, but a bewildered, miserable flight, subject to

"Incessant." He protests in honest indignation that he is sick and hates his work. He tells the truth—he is sick. But his sickness comes from his head being weak as his gills may be. His sickness comes from a hidden cowardice—a repressed wish to escape a reality which he fears.

Trace back some of these mysterious illnesses you're known. That spell of "nervous prostration" which you had when you thought Jim was saying attention to his eulogistic—those attacks of indignation Jim always gets when you make him eat Thanksgiving dinner with your eyes closed when you make him eat that strange baffling "vegetarian" which he wants to go to bed—when doing housework yet permit him to sleep until 11 A.M.

The Wish To Be Sick—what a dark and secret police it breeds! George, 1927, The Fantasy Press, Inc.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

I have often regretted having. Extends from side to side the field spoken, never having kept silent. —Bryant.

Endless are the modes of speech and in great straits and when hope is small, the boldest counsel is the safest. —Livy.
